

Millions of Children May Lose Medicaid: What Can Be Done?

Webinar

Date: May 6th, 2022 - 2:00p.m. ET

Join the Institute for Medicaid Innovation (IMI) for an important webinar on what can be done to address the mass Medicaid eligibility redetermination that will occur once the COVID-19 public health emergency lapses. Joan Alker and Tricia Brooks from the Center for Children and Family at Georgetown University's McCourt School of Public Policy will share highlights from their February 2022 report, Millions of Children May Lose Medicaid, which estimates that 6.7 million children are at-risk for becoming uninsured. The authors will identify the ways children lose Medicaid coverage and additional state-specific issues.

Panel

Facilitator:

Sandra Hassink, MD, MS, FAAP, Chair, IMI Child and Adolescent Health Subcommittee
Past President, American Academy of Pediatrics

Speakers:

Joan Alker, M.Phil, Executive Director and Co-Founder, Center for Children and Families; Research Professor, Georgetown University McCourt School of Public Policy

Tricia Brooks, MBA, Research Professor, Center for Children and Families

Panelists:

Lindsey Angelats, MS, Vice President, Chief of Staff, Children's Hospital of Orange County

Steve Fitton, Independent Consultant, V/XIX Consulting

Arethusa Kirk, MD, FAAP, Regional Chief Medical Officer, UnitedHealthcare Community & State

Webinar Resources

Speaker Bios

Presentation Slides

[Archived Session
Recording](#)

INSTITUTE FOR
MEDICAID INNOVATION